UNSEEN.

BY CHARLES G. AMES. How do the rivulets find their way? How do the flowers know the day, And open their cups to catch the ray?

I see the germ to the sunlight reach And the nestlings know the old bird's speech; I do not see who is there to teach.

I see the lare from the danger hide, And the stare through the trackless spaces ride : I do not see that they have a guide.

He is tyes for all who Is eyes for the mole ; All motion goes to the rightful goal, O God! I can trust for the human soul. -N. Y. Ch! Inquirer.

A WAR HYMN.

Trige who ordalnest, for the land's salvation. Famine, and fire, and sword, and languistion. Now unto Thee we lift our supplication. God save the Nation !

By the great sign, fortold, of Thine appearing, Coming in clouds, while mortal men stand fearing Show us, amid this smoke of battle, clearing, Thy chariot nearing !

Now by the blood that floweth like a river, Now, with a bolt of tire out of Thy quiver, Smiller, the strong claims! Every fetter shiver!

Slay Thou our focs, or turn them to derision, Then, in the mood-red Vathey of Decision, Brings to our fields Peace, like a Prophet's vision, Green and olyslau!

fluence was a man of Ideas which had no physical consequences. An optimist i not without sugacity in merely intellectual problems but feeligh in affinis. He had the very Conceit of the consequences of the consequence of th Hope. So certain was he of the favorable tenof great natural cause, that he scarcely deemed it needful to exert special volitions un He was wise in ideas and foolish in things. Whatever could be settled by thinking he managed skilfully. But it was his infuturetion to suppose that all things could be managed by thinking. He was an Idealist—rich in the top of his brain; lean and feeble in the bottom. So all matters that lay upon the earth he trent ed as it they were shadows, that came and went without human volitition, by the movements of the sun. His realities began where common men's ended, in the realm of more ideas. He was utterly devoid of the instincts of physical He could have but could not fight. Without wisdom in direction of practical affairs he had such neuteness, ingenuity, and mind force that his criticisms and judgments weighed much in the shaping of other men's practital policies His inordinate hopefulness lit up the future with perpetual brightness, and led him to frequen prophecies. And like all uninspired prophets, the failure of his prediction abated no jot of A LARGE SUPPLY of Blankets and ready made Comfortables, confidence in his prevision, and he still covered old disappointments with new promises. #### THE FUTURE.

The following excellent and able article upon "the future" of our country is taken from the Philadelphia North American: "If we succeed, what then? History furnishes no parallel for the existing conflict in the United States. In the midst of peace, plenty and prosperity, under a government established by the free will of the patricidal blow is aimed at the life of the namisguided by unprincipled aspirants for influhad gained all their consequence. The suddenness and unnaturalness of the revolt seemed for tent of it were realized. It was as if part of the some time, and one thing we do know, that if the the opportunity to corrupt some of the servants,... break down the doors, rush out with a war whoop, and forthwith commence an assault upon the home in which they were-born and nourished, and seek to involve it and its ininates in a common destruction. It would be difficult to believe that they would not relent and return with penitence and submit to the wholesome laws of the household. But the infatuation of the conspirators was too potent .-Once launched upon the boiling sea, they determined to pursue the voyage, come what might. And then commenced, and still prevails, a civil war which for nearly two years has absorbed the interest and wealth and blood of the country, and threatens to blot out our maine as a nation. The crisis has now been fully reached shall the United States continue to occupy its elevated place among the nations of the earth? deserved the appointment; and is taken from the or shall its territory be divided between three or late issue of the New York Herald : more petty republies, or subjected to the iron heel of some adventurous despot? The N. Y. Times says the Proclamation does not make their own views. The seeds of discord which have been sown so lavishy before the revolt, and by it, will spring up on every side, and the whole population be kept in a constant fever of excitement fatal to peace and prosperity. And what a shout would go up from all despots and tyrants, and their graceless myrmidons, if they should see this great nation of freemen sliding from its foundations and tumbling into irretrievable ruin! If these are the unexaggerated consequences of our failure to suppress this most causeless, wanton immatural rebellion, and if the glorious results we have enumerated shall follow our success, with what ardor, ananimity, and courage should we pursue the contest? What terms are too strong in which to express the danger of delay or apathy? And what democrations are too severe to visit on those who look with in every object. This war is one of the Constitution. THE WEATHER. We really do not like always to be harping on the weather, but we have "stood" it so long without saying anything, that we feel as if we must abuse it, just a little.

It commenced raining on Monday, and this is Friday morning-and although it does not rain now "pitch-forks," still it betokens a wet day, and this lull is only like a lucid interval between the spells" of a deranged man. The heavens hung out a sable token of black clouds on Sunday evening, and on Monday it began to rain. Some times it has come in a very mist-erious way, and sometimes as it did in the days of Noah, that poor pilet, who can his vessel on a big rock and left ber there. We have not had the privilege of stepping out a moment without having our "file" wet.

We now wish, like all the inhabitants of this land, since the war broke out, for a "change."-And we think that this prayer will be answered, because it is a "universal one," and when everybody prays for a thing, there is a slight chance that there may be, at least, ten righteons ones among the pepeople for their own protection and benefit, a titioners. We do wish, that the gentleman who has his hoots blacked at the White house, in the tion. A portion of the people, deceived and City of Washington, could have the control of the weather-wouldn't we petition-we'd get a list of ence and dominion, break out suddenly in open signatures as long as a post-office seeker, and send rebellion against the government which they it on to Old Abe. He'd rotate, because he "goes in' for change, and he'd as soon change the face of had sworn to sustain, and under which they the weather as anything else, and we do believe he'd soon give us again that glorious old orb in the heavens, that lightens, warms, and fertilizes the a monthly the maralyse the entionel authorities, earth, which we call the sun, but which is now and months elapsed before the depth and ex- yelept Burn-sides. When he does come, we have only one and to secrete as much of the portable treasures wish, and that is that he will lay his ley fingers of the house as they dared, should suddenly gently on the suffering poor, and he may pinch the "rest of mankind" to his "heart's content."

Newport has, in this respect a glorious record. The lield of battle has been whitened with the bones of martyred Newportians, in the cause of their country und their blood has enriched the soil of traitors. The Navy too has claimed har quota from our sea girt isle, and her hardy sons man almost every shroud. This is not vain boasting, it is truth.-We have thus prefaced these desultory remarks, before giving one or two facts in corroboration o our remarks.

$500 REWARD.

I beg leave to inform my friends and the community, that from recent arrangements made by tine, I NOW offer the above reward in good fath, which shall be paid in each to any chemist or physician, of good and responsible canding in the State, who, on due inalysis and satisfactory evidence, can find anything in the BRANDIES, WINES, GINS, &c., &c., NOW for sale by me as pure, other than is found in all PURE, GENUNE and UNADULTERATED ARTICLES.

Rnowing, from experience, that our citizens in general above under the impression, will good cause, that pure liquors cannot be had, I, after match paths, studious investigation, and from the reliable source with whose I NOW contract for my supplies in these ardiles, do stake my reputation as man, my integrity as a merchant, that if the liquors NOW sold by me as pure "are not so," then none can be had from the vineyards in France, or from any part of the world. As a proof of my sincerity, I challenge chemical contradiction, and invite all to come and test for themselves, when they will learn that NOW, "if never before," pure liquors can be purchased in Newport, by bottle or measure, but medicinal or family purposes, and so chem as in any other place in these United States.
